

ADVENT

As we approach the end of the semester and the hectic activity of finishing papers and preparing for finals draws to a close, a stillness is settling in on campus, inviting a more peaceful pace for both work and prayer. The spirit of Advent, that of watching and waiting, is tangible, especially as the quietness embraces the campus as one would embrace a loved one. We are waiting and watching.

CHRISTMAS BLESSINGS

May this blessed season of Advent be a time of joyful anticipation of the Feast of the Incarnation.

May the holy one who humbled himself to take on our humanity bring compassion for the marginalized, reconciliation with the alienated and peace to those who live in fear and darkness.

May the fullness of the blessings of the Incarnation descend upon you and your family.

AND MAY OUR WORLD BE FILLED WITH GOD'S PEACE!

Waiting in joyful hope,
